Profile

I am a qualified EFL teacher with a passion for delivering engaging and interactive lessons that inspire students of all ages. I enjoy being creative in my teaching approach, tailoring lessons to meet the diverse needs of learners and ensuring that all students remain motivated and confident in their abilities. My excellent communication skills allow me to connect with learners of different ages and backgrounds, making learning an enjoyable and accessible experience.

In previous roles, I have successfully worked in both individual and team settings, which has enhanced my flexibility and collaboration skills. I am always eager to improve my teaching methods and contribute to the success of the school through effective and impactful language instruction.

Relevant Experience

Although I am newly qualified, I have gained valuable experience working with children and young learners in various informal settings. For instance, I have volunteered at local community centers, where I helped organize educational activities for children aged 8-12. These experiences taught me how to communicate effectively with younger learners, create structured yet fun activities, and adapt to different learning styles.

In addition, I have taken part in mentoring programs for students, assisting them with their homework and providing guidance in English. Through this, I developed a deeper understanding of how to explain concepts clearly and patiently, ensuring students felt supported and encouraged to learn. These experiences have strengthened my ability to manage a classroom, engage students, and foster a positive learning environment.
