Objective

I am very passionate and motivated to partake in mitigating the hurdles encountered in a broader spectrum of supply chain to reach end consumers and remain competitive, as there is an inclination towards being responsive due to uncertain customer demand, geographical dispersion of both consumers and suppliers, sudden or unknown changes in the governmental policies in foreign markets that might affect the movement of freight, the urge for digitalization with well advanced technologies to secure a larger customer base, political tensions in markets of strategic suppliers who might provide key inputs, and the overarching aim to remain flexible and relevant in all aspects of supply chain.
