Summary

Teaching English As A Foreign Language
Dear Hiring manager
My name is Mushaathoni Nemaungani and I'm applying for the role of an English Teacher I hold a Bachelors of Economics , a Post-graduate Certificate in Education, a South African teaching licence and a TEFL 120 hour certificate. I've been interested in teaching English abroad since I was still in high school and have been pursuing that goal since then, so it has been a passion for me for many years. In my research, I found out about China and was immediately interested in the roles you offer and the goals you support.
I am excited to submit this letter as part of my application and deeply appreciate the opportunity you will provide to me.
I am an experienced Drama, Creative Arts and English teacher who previously worked for the department of Education in South Africa.
While I was still in University I tutored first year students. I helped them with assignments, and all their theatre production work. I am a very fun and energetic, I play netball , dance and facilitate English discussions in my church.
Few of the many skills that make me qualified for this position is my interpersonal skills. I believe a teacher needs to be caring about other people, about the language along with being able to infuse passion with patience when teaching. Passion eradicates boredom and irritation which is very common while studying a new Language. The teacher needs to be patient and give constructive feedback at all time for students to improve.
Getting this job will mean alot to me as I will be able to learn about different cultures and explore the world.
Thank you for your consideration and time as you read through this letter and considering me for the ESL teaching roles. I look forward to meeting you.

Sincerely,
Mushaathoni
