PROFILE

A teacher in making, a voracious reader, a lover of art & nature, a people's person & a seeker of knowledge; I'm a learner who can and wants to learn from all experiences and opportunities in life.

Having found the opportunity to do something in the form of teaching, makes me immensely happy and grateful to not just take knowledge as a student but also to share and deliver it as a teacher.

Teaching is not just a beautiful profession but where I hail from, its considered one of the most noble acts or services as we get a chance to help some minds and souls grow in a manner that will not only be beneficial for them but will be beneficial for the many communities they are going to come in contact with.
